Price Overview

- o B2C (Retail/Small-scale): Cable trays for home or office use are priced between AUD 15 and AUD 34, with some wholesale options as low as AUD 1 per unit. These are typically lightweight, easy-to-install trays with no-drill clamps .
- o B2B (Industrial/Commercial): Prices range from AUD 1 to over AUD 150 per unit depending on material, size, and durability. Stainless steel and aluminium trays command higher prices due to corrosion resistance and compliance with safety standards . Bulk purchases from manufacturers like Schneider Electric, Eaton, Legrand, and Atkore are available for large-scale projects .

Material and Type Considerations

- o Stainless Steel - High corrosion resistance, suitable for harsh environments.
- o Aluminium - Lightweight and durable, ideal for medium-duty applications.
- o Galvanised Steel - Cost-effective, commonly used in commercial installations.
- o Wire Mesh Trays - Flexible and easy to install, often used in data centers and telecommunications.
- o Ladder and Solid-Bottom Trays - Provide robust support for heavy cables in industrial settings .

Additional Notes

- o Prices vary based on tray length, width, height, and load capacity.
