They export to Southeast Asia, Africa, Europe, and the United States, offering both standard and customized solutions .

Industry Context

China's fiber optic cable industry is highly competitive, with manufacturers like YOFC and Hengtong leading globally. While Gaoyou-based manufacturers are smaller than these giants, they provide flexible, customizable solutions suitable for domestic and international clients. Chinese manufacturers are known for low attenuation, high tensile strength, multi-core capacities, and compliance with international standards such as ITU-T G.652 and IEC 60794, which ensures reliability for telecom and data center applications .

Considerations for Buyers

- o Product Range: Ensure the manufacturer offers the specific type of optical cable required (indoor, outdoor, armored, FTTH, or multi-core).
- o Certifications: ISO 9001, CE, and other quality certifications indicate adherence to international standards.
- o Customization: Many Gaoyou manufacturers provide tailored solutions for specific engineering or telecom projects.
- o Export Capability: Companies like Yangzhou Gaotong have experience exporting globally, which is important for international procurement.
- o Technical Support: Strong technical teams and testing facilities ensure product reliability and support for installation or integration. For businesses seeking optical cable suppliers in Gaoyou, Gaoyou Shuanglian Cable Materials Factory and Yangzhou Gaotong Photoelectric Technology Co., Ltd. are reliable starting
